Emiliano Diaz de Leon - Texas Association Against Sexual Assault (TAASA)

“Ethical Dilemmas of Sexual Assault and Domestic Violence”

After more than a decade of experience working for several domestic and sexual violence centers across Texas, Emiliano joined the Texas Association Against Sexual Assault in 2008 and provides training and technical assistance on the prevention of domestic/sexual violence to organizations and institutions around the state and country.

In addition, Emiliano founded and coordinates the state-wide prevention initiative Texas Men S.P.E.A.K. (Supporting Prevention Education Advocacy & Knowledge).

Phyllis Everette - Founder & CEO, Saffron Trust

Women’s Foundation

“Ethical Dilemmas of Sexual Assault and Domestic Violence”

Phyllis Everette is a non-profit executive with a deep and dedicated passion for addressing generational poverty and inequality. Having experienced it first hand, Phyllis Everette seeks to create the change she wishes to see in the world and her community at large. Her focus is on families and youth, namely women. She believes that all people need to be treated with dignity and respect, irrespective of their social standing or economic status.

Phyllis Everette’s drive and determination has earned her the respect of top professionals in the fields of law enforcement, education, non-profit work and elected office. Her diverse 25 year experience in corporate environments and first-hand understanding of poverty have uniquely positioned her to effectively address the very issues that challenge our society.

Phyllis Everette is eager to use her moment in history to create a world where every person has equal access to opportunities for growth and development. Her work in the founding and success of Saffron’s Trust Women’s Foundation serves as an excellent example of this, having assisted countless women living stories just like hers create better outcomes for themselves.

Phyllis is also a life coach and author who holds a Master's of Science in Management, Specialization in Organizational Structure from the College of Saint Elizabeth, New Jersey; and a Bachelor's of Science in Business Administration, concentration in Human Resources Management from Centenary College.

Her accolades and impact on her community have been furthered through the positions she holds as a Committee Member and Senior Community Policymaker.

Equipped with more than 10 years of experience in supporting organizations through the power of people, visions and programs, Phyllis is spearheading changes for the better throughout Texas and beyond.

Jeneice Hall, M.S. CHES® - Austin Public Health Department "Taking Care of Yourself – Your Whole Self"

Jeneice Hall is on a mission to help others reach their full potential - mind, body, and spirit. She currently works with faith communities and nonprofit organizations to support health through her Public Health Program Coordinator role at Austin Public Health Department.

She is a highly regarded speaker and presenter with a unique health focused background spanning more than 18 years in the military, private, and public health sectors. She is a Certified Health Education Specialist (CHES®) with an M.S. in Health Promotion from the University of West Florida.

Jeneice will share her journey to discover if she was doing self-care right and what she learned along the way.

Jaryn Holbrook Janeway - Out Youth Austin "Taking Care of Yourself – Your Whole Self"

Jaryn Holbrook Janeway, The Lone Star Diva, is a bigender speaker, educator, and advocate for the LGBTQIA+ community. Jaryn is the co-author of Trans+: Love, Sex, Romance, and Being You, a growing-up guide for trans and non-binary youth, and the Director of Programs and Operations at Out Youth, an Austin-based nonprofit serving LGBTQIA+ youth for 33 years.

Jaryn has worked in the nonprofit sector, specifically youth advocacy and organizing, for 20 years. They have facilitated state-wide youth lobby days, organized state-wide youth leadership and empowerment conferences, and created the Queer Youth Media Project during their time at AGLIFF. They also serve as Chair of the City of Austin's LGBTQ+ Quality of Life Commission, which advises the Austin City Council on issues impacting queer people.

Jaryn's research into the evolutionary importance of storytelling in our everyday lives heavily influences their work and continually seeks new ways for youth to share their stories with the world.

2023 Conference Presenters

Kelle' Martin - Executive Director of allgo "The Ethics of Gender Affirming Care"

Kelle' (pronounced Kel) Martin serves as Executive Director of allgo, an organization that nurtures and celebrates LGBTQIA+ BIPOC individuals through health and wellness, cultural arts and social justice programs. He views the world through a lens that tracks the inequities in society around race, gender identity and expression, ability, sexuality, social class, body size, age and ethnicity, which fuels Kelle's desire to transform the status quo into a place where the most vulnerable populations can live safe, choice filled lives.

Kelle' has a Bachelors in English Lit with a minor in Woman's & Gender Studies from the University of Texas - Austin, and a Masters in Social Work, concentration in political Social Work, from the University of Houston. Kelle' was a Policy Analyst for the bipartisan political caucus, The Legislative Study Group, and is a former Program Manager for the Texas State Independent Council. He has spent 7 years facilitating students' development of their academic voices and planting seeds for civic engagement. Kelle' has volunteered with allgo since 2007 and has been the Executive Director since January 2022. He also worked with UT's Gender and Sexuality Center, volunteered with Houston's Montrose Center, and Delta Phi Upsilon, Fraternity, Inc

Knowing your status is one of the best ways to prevent HIV.

Getting tested is the most important thing you can do for yourself and for others to prevent HIV. Knowing your status empowers you to make informed decisions. If you are negative, you can learn how to stay negative. If you are positive, you can seek treatment to live a long and healthy life.

Austin Public Health's HIV Prevention program offers FREE, confidential and anonymous counseling and testing for HIV, for those who are not experiencing symptoms.

AUSTIN PRIME TIMERS

is a nonprofit social organization that provides mature gay and bisexual men with opportunities to gather in a safe and supportive atmosphere. With over 170 members, there are activities to engage varied interests every week. Members host pool parties, discussion, support and special-interest groups. We enjoy dining out, happy hour and member potlucks. Cultural activities include visits to local museums, galleries, theater and music venues, sporting events. We hold monthly membership meetings, host holiday celebrations and an annual chapter anniversary dinner/gala. Member support is just as important within the group. We actively work to prevent senior isolation and care for one another in times of need.

Full details about all our activities are provided to members in our monthly newsletter and weekly email updates. New members are always welcome. Prospective members can check out some of our activities for the current month online in MeetUp (group name Austin Prime Timers). We encourage you to attend one of our public events if you are interested in joining our group.
